Indian Snacks and Starters

Indian food is very diverse and is influenced by culture, state, religion and other factors. Along with main dishes, Indian food also has a wide array of snacks and finger foods which are ideal for apéros and can also be served as starters on the table.

The course will be conducted by Neera Mallick, M.Sc. Home Science, New Delhi, India. In this course, we are going to learn three popular Indian snacks : Pakoras, Chicken Tikka, Aloo tikki and chutneys (dips).

And of course, after all the hard work, we will enjoy the snacks with some aromatic Indian tea.

Numbers are limited to 16. Please book by Monday, 27th August at the latest with Gaby:
