

Saturday, 13th November, 14.00h

The Landesmuseum, Zürich

When I arrived in Switzerland it wasn't long before I found my way to Zürich and was so impressed to find a real castle in the center of that bustling town. I was soon disillusioned!

Yes, as you probably are aware, the Landesmuseum was only built in 1898 and is one of the first reinforced concrete buildings in Zürich! Amazing what stone facing can achieve. It houses much, including sections on Swiss history, interiors, furnishings, military history, and a vast collection of art, crafts and fashion items. It offers an extensive romp through Swiss history!

We are making this an informal event, where we will meet up beforehand, go in together, then go our separate ways, and meet up again afterwards to swap impressions.

We meet at 14:00 at the entrance. Entrance costs Sfr 10,- (Sfr. 8,- for seniors), free for Raiffeisen card holders.

For any questions please contact David Smith,
056 424 1700/